Summer 2012

Dear Friends:

It's summertime in New Haven and time for the City's 2012 Summer Guide! With this guide we hope to make this summer the best ever for our city's youth. Inside you'll find a wealth of programs for youth of all ages, from preschool to young adults.

From computers to volleyball to swimming to theater, there are programs to match the interests of every youth. Take advantage of the city's rich resources, from Long Island Sound to our 2,200 acres of parkland to our world-class cultural institutions.

Many of the programs in this Guide are free or low-cost. There is also a convenient listing of dozens of sites across the City for the free summer meals program.

If you need further information about summer in New Haven, please call the City's Youth Services Bureau at 946-7582.

My best wishes for an enjoyable and enriching summer.

Very truly yours,

They include environmental activities, amazing exposures to biodiversity, and outdoor adventure activities specially tailored to the needs and abilities of the youth. We will offer the campers different experiences on three levels: physical, intellectual, and emotional, through exploration of a wide variety of urban and natural settings in the City of New Haven. Our staff-to-participant ratio allows for plenty of personal instruction, as well as careful supervision of all activities with individual attention.

By taking on progressively more challenging experiences, participants will learn team-building, cooperation and conflict resolution. Staff will help the teams establish goals that call for planning, group decision-making, task designation and group action while providing instruction about natural history and environmentally responsible choices.

Activities include canoeing, kayaking, white water rafting, sailing, orienteering, hiking & nature interpretation, climbing wall, rock climbing, mountain biking, introduction to scuba diving, ropes & challenge course, and much more. A swimming test is required for acceptance in the Eco-Adventure Extreme camp.

Description: Cooperation, trust and other group dynamics are built through creative problem solving in our Outdoor Adventure Initiative Games program. Our staff has been trained and certified by Project Adventure, High 5 Adventure and Project COPE to lead these non-competitive activities. Teams will work together to accomplish various challenges in the field or on one of our low ropes courses at the West Rock Nature Centre or Camp Cedarcrest. Individuals will increase their levels of self-esteem, self-respect and self-worth. An emphasis on teamwork and communication helps participants understand the importance of community. Often, these activities are physically, mentally and emotionally challenging. Most of all, however, these activities are fun for everyone involved.

To register your group for a Ropes Course program, please call the Outdoor Adventure Coordinator at (203) 946-6768.

The program has three components: initiative games, low elements and the high elements. These activities must be accomplished in order, but are often part of a multi-day program.

Description: A public-private partnership of the City of New Haven, the New Haven Board of Education, Workforce Alliance, the Greater New Haven Chamber of Commerce and Empower New Haven. The program provides summer and year-round employment opportunities, workplace exposure and work readiness activities to youth who face socio-economic barriers to workplace success.

The program targets youth, ages 14-19, who are New Haven residents and/or attend New Haven public schools. Early work experiences have proven effective in helping youth, serving as the foundation for future success in both the workplace and the community.

Youth at Work has been very successful in providing youth with job opportunities during the summer months. Over 2,000 students apply for summer jobs but unfortunately the program can only employ approximately 600 students. Each year the number of applications increases but the number of available slots has decreased by 50% compared to summer of 2010.

Applications for 2012 are due April 5, 2012.

Description: The Family Learning Center (FLC) is a family resource center based out of John S. Martinez School. The FLC provides an array of educational, recreational and cultural enrichment services which promote academic success, family empowerment, and school/community engagement. Specifically, the Family Learning Center (FLC) operates an after-school and summer program for up to 45 K-8th grade students who attend Martinez School. The summer program is a full day program and is licensed by the Connecticut State Department of Health. The FLC purposely works with a smaller pool of students to guarantee that each young person will get the individual attention and support that they need during after-school hours. Parents, siblings and other family members are encouraged to participate in activities sponsored by the FLC. Throughout the year, the FLC sponsors parent workshops that reinforce the importance of lifelong learning, family involvement in school, positive parenting and family economic success. During the after-school program and the summer camp, students are provided with a safe, well-structured, caring environment where they receive assistance on their homework and on other academic studies. Students participate in a wide range of cultural enrichment and recreational activities in which they learn new skills and discover new talents and interests. The program stresses positive interaction with all students and their family members. Ensuring that each child is safe, having fun and growing academically and socially are top priorities. We focus on helping children build strong relationships with staff and volunteers who are caring adult mentors and role models to many. Staff includes professionals who are bilingual in English and in Spanish and possess significant expertise in the fields of positive youth development, social services and education.

For more information regarding the Family Learning Center, please contact Miriam Johnson, Site Coordinator, at (203) 691-2030. Limited to students at John Martinez School.

It is an attempt to have our children become more informed, socially, conscious, and practically educated for making a positive change in the lives of others and the community throughout the course of their lives. It is most fundamentally a life enrichment program. Through an incorporation of hands on workshops and thought provoking seminars, discussion, and real life work experience, the Youth Initiative Program fosters personal growth, intentional preparation, and compels our teens to consider themselves as individuals as well as essential parts of the collective.

We endeavor to maximize the intrinsic potential of at-risk young people by enabling them to thrive and reach for personal excellence and academic success. We offer support and where necessary, supplementing an effective family base and promote and provide opportunities for positive engagement within their communities. Wheel chair accessible. Description: The childcare center serves children from the shelter and local community ages 6 weeks to 5 years. “Enrollment priorities are for families residing within the shelter. Life Haven is a temporary shelter that provides a safe and nurturing environment for homeless pregnant women and women with young children. We are committed to assisting them in developing skills that will enable them to live independently.

Almost 90 percent of the families entering Life Haven move out into permanent housing in the community. It is our goal to end homelessness, one family at a time. The childcare center serves children from the shelter and local community ages 6 weeks to 5 years.”

Description: The Elm City Entrepreneurs, New Haven Work to Learn Center, is a center-based program for youth ages 14-21 referred by the Department of Children. The center activities assist youth with meeting individualized goals in education, vocation, financial and life management, relationships, and recreation/social growth.

Marrakech Inc. provides residential, employment, support, referral, and advocacy services to individuals with disabilities and people with similar service needs to assist them in exercising their human rights as citizens and contributing members of society. Marrakech provides services to children and youth in three distinct categories. For children with disabilities, we provide in home and community integration supports generally funded by DDS or DCF as well as Transition Services funded by Boards of Education. For youth involved with DCF Foster care, we operate New Haven’s Work to Learn Center, which focuses on education, job skills, life skills, and financial literacy as well as Community Based Life Skills training programs in New Haven and West Haven. Finally, for older youth ages 18-21, Marrakech’s Academy for Human Service Training prepares youth for careers in the human services field working with people with disabilities. Students earn a nationally-recognized credential and receive assistance with job placement upon graduation. This program is WIA-funded and is made possible by the Workforce Alliance.

Web Site: www.nhfamilyalliance.org

Description: Represents an effort to divert youth from the formal juvenile justice system. New Haven's JRBs are community-based and tailored to reflect demographics and diversity in New Haven's communities. JRB's provide youth, who take responsibility for their actions, an opportunity to avoid going to Juvenile Court by facing a group of volunteer community members, their victims, their parent(s)/guardians, a law enforcement official and school officials. The New Haven JRB incorporates a Balanced and Restorative Justice approach, which balances the needs of the youth, the victim, and the community. Accordingly, the JRB assists the youth in developing an understanding of how his or her behavior affected the individual who was the subject of the crime and the community in which he or she lives, acknowledging that the behavior was harmful to themselves and others both directly and indirectly. The JRB also enables the child to take action to repair the harm, either directly, where possible, or indirectly. Finally, through this process, the JRB assists the child in developing competencies that will enable the child to effect necessary changes in their behavior to avoid re-offending in the future. "The mission of the New Haven Family Alliance is to foster family well-being by strengthening parents ability to provide healthy nurturing environments for their children and by providing supports for children and youth so that they thrive emotionally, socially, academically and spiritually. We carry out this mission through individual and group strength based innovative interventions, and advocacy. We believe that healthy families are the foundation of a healthy community."

Description: New Haven Street Outreach Workers is a community crime prevention program designed to provide interventions and deterrents to youth violence. The Outreach Workers are individuals who are familiar with "street life". They form relationships with high risk youth who have exhibited violent behavior or are at risk for violence; they mediate conflicts and try to head off violence. Street Outreach Workers are street-smart themselves and are able to build sufficient trust with high risk individuals to influence the ways these young people think and act. Street Outreach Workers also redirect youth to healthy and productive pursuits including jobs, job training, returning to school, entrepreneurial pursuits, etc. They connect the high risk youth to the multiple services in New Haven that can help redirect their lives.

“ Since 1962, Teen Challenge New England has offered residential care to individuals with life-controlling issues. We utilize the most successful treatment protocol in the world, whose success has been proven for over 44 years and in over 70 different countries. Our efforts to help those suffering include:

- * Treatment - 15 month residential program
- * Intervention - Concerned counseling and community care
- * Prevention - Drug awareness teams on the streets, in the school and at local businesses”

Teen Challenge New Haven is the faith based solution for the drug epidemic. There is a fee for the program, which is not disclosed because it is on a sliding scale and money can be raised for an individual. The program runs all year round and lasts between 15 and 21 months. People may enter the program at any time. There is also a re-entry program for those that have been through the program already. Women live in a separate facility, The Women's Home, which is next to the main site.

Description: The adult education program of the Sound School includes a variety of programs-both aquaculture and agriculture-related, presented throughout the year. Adult Education programs are constantly being developed, and some tested programs have become popular. With our high School Program being focused on aquaculture and marine sciences, and preparing our students for advanced marine related studies, college, technical schools or for entering employment upon graduation within a variety of marine trades, our adult education program has become steadfast in offering programs throughout the year with a variety of similar topics.

Sound School faculty and other qualified individuals representing federal and state aquaculture and agriculture departments continue to share their expertise within the adult education program, among them the Sea Grant, NOAA, DEP, FFA Sound Marine Skills, LLC, Yale, University of New Haven and others are part of the aquaculture and agriculture systems that contribute to a wide base of educational support for adult education. The Sound School Regional Vocational Aquaculture Center is accredited inter-district, college preparatory high school, one of the 19 vocational agriculture centers in Connecticut, and a part of The New Haven Public School System. We are the first (full-time center) to concentrate in the study of aquaculture and marine trades.

Our outreach program is offered to middle school students where our faculty provides marine education programs in the development and delivery of marine science educational programs on request from a school or district. Our faculty and even some students have presented knot contests and aquarium and touch tanks as well as fish prints for many outdoor activities for young students. We can present Power Point slides and engage students in discussion of current aquatic interest and discussion and further enrich programs with clam and oyster boards. Our school chorale group named Chanteens represents at events statewide to sing sea shanties. Check our website for adult education classes.www.soundschool.com

Description: “The Sound Marine Skills, Inc. (SMS) is a non-profit adult education partnership between the Sound School and the Bridgeport Regional Vocational Aquaculture Centers, Workforce Alliance, the Connecticut Marine Trades Association and several area full-service marinas and boatyards. SMS brings career opportunities in marine technologies to recent high school graduates, under-employed and qualified unemployed adults at no cost to the trainee while addressing the maritime industry’s critical skilled labor shortages. Employment opportunities include marinas serving recreational boating and noncommercial fishing, retail boat and marine equipment dealers and manufacturers.

Program Description : The instructional vehicle is the American Boat and Yacht Council’s (ABYC) National Marine Trades Curriculum which covers:

- Inboard, outboard, I/O and diesel engine theory, repair and maintenance
- Marine systems (plumbing, electrical, fuel, hydraulic, steering and rigging)
- Fiberglass construction and repair - Marine finishes
- Wood joinery - Metalworking
- Nautical skills and seamanship - Boat handling and navigation
- Boating and shop safety - Boat design and construction
- Marina operations - Vessel transportation
- Fisheries management

In addition to technical skills, the focus is on workplace preparation combined with classroom and practical shop experience in each of the ABYC program modules listed above covering the full range of marine skilled trades “each a potential area for future technical specialization. Trainees should be persons beginning their career preparation or wishing to explore career alternatives who are taught by ABYC-accredited instructors and certified marine technicians. Classroom and shop teaching are combined with workplace experiences at area marina-teaching partners for specialized instruction in a wide range of boatyard skills. The program provides personal sets of industry-standard tools at no cost to the Trainee and a nationally recognized ABYC Certificate of Completion is awarded on successful completion of classroom and shop contact hours, proficiency examinations and practical field experience.

Trainee Entry Requirements

Reading and language skills to comprehend technical manuals and complex verbal instructions

Mathematical skills to use measurement instruments and solve basic arithmetic problems

Motor skills to use a variety of hand and power tools

For more information, visit our website at www.soundmarineskills.org.

Over 18 years old, high school graduates are eligible to apply. Located on the banks of New Haven Harbor in historic Oyster Point, The Sound School boasts a five-building campus with sweeping water views. This is the ideal location for our unique high school program that is comprised of a dual focus on marine and agriculture sciences and technology. The Sound School offers students a blend of the academic and practical education necessary to succeed in today’s ever-changing world. We enroll students from New Haven and twenty-one surrounding towns creating a community of diversity that develops students’ social and intellectual skills.

Web Site: www.soundschool.com

Description: Sound Summer Exploring Aquaculture is a summer program that the New Haven Board of Education and the cooperating public school districts of Cheshire, East Haven, Guilford, Hamden, Madison, North Branford, North Haven and West Haven have created. It is a unique three week academic and vocational marine education summer enrichment program for middle school students. The Sound School Regional Vocational Aquaculture Center is the site for the three-week program that serves over 150 students.

The summer program's primary goals are:

To provide a unique learning experience in the marine sciences that is not available anywhere else in the region.

To bring together students of diverse racial/ethnic backgrounds from neighboring communities in the Greater New Haven area, enabling them to get to know one another, form friendships, and overcome fears and stereotypes that develop from segregation and isolation between communities.

The Sound Summer Program consists of nine curricular modules spanning three levels of instruction. The first year curriculum includes Marine Math and Navigation, Marine Technology I (lobster pot construction) and Maritime Connections (a study of local history and social development). Second-year level instruction includes modules in Marine Science Practicum, Marine Technology II (fishing rod construction) and the Sail Training and Seamanship/Small Boat Program using the several rowing dories and small sailing sharpies. Field/boat trips, on-the-water activities, laboratories and hands-on /take home projects are all significant components of the Sound Summer Program at all levels and are designed to complement classroom learning. Field trips typically visit the Norwalk Maritime Center, Lighthouse Point, the New Haven Colony Historical Society, Meig's Point Nature Center and the different ecological regions of the Hamonassett Beach Park, and Lake Saltonstall and Lakes Maltby. First and second year students are on the water frequently, continuing their education aboard research vessels for a more hands-on experience. The most memorable trip for a second-year student is the extended day deep sea fishing trip, aboard the ferry, Island Rover, practicing boating safety, navigation and seamanship skills.

Third year students have three five-day modules which include; Science Along Connecticut's waterways, (proficiency in maneuverability and emergency handling of canoes), Adventure Teamwork (leadership training safety, trust, and team building skills, and Marine Ecology (studying the ecological diversity of the region, while performing community service at the Connecticut Coastal Center, at Milford Point). Field trips are a daily event, and include the West River, Farm River, Quinnipiac River, Mill River, Lake Wintergreen, Deer Lake Reservation, Hamonassett Beach Park, and Milford Point. The third year experience culminates in an overnight camping trip for all students and staff at Deer Lake.

Emphasis throughout the entire three years of the Sound Summer Program is on cooperation, teamwork and learning together, as opposed to competition. Through cooperative classroom and practical learning activities and on-the-water collaboration, students closely interact with their peers from different racial, ethnic and community backgrounds and begin to develop friendships. These new friendships strengthen for the students who chose to return for the second and third years of the program as challenges become more difficult and the program more intensive. Principal is Rebecca Gratz. Please contact Evelyn DeLeon at 203-946-6937 X2311 for information.

Program is 3 weeks, Monday through Friday. Breakfast and lunch is provided.

Description: Are you looking for a fun and educational experience for your children this summer? Camps meet daily from 9 am to 4 pm, Monday through Friday. Before care (8 am to 9 am) and after care (4 pm to 5 pm) services are also available. Summer is a time of growth and discovery, and summer camps are the source of countless enriching and memorable experiences for children. At the Yale Peabody Museum, summer camp provides the opportunity to learn about natural and cultural history in a relaxed setting, through fun and engaging hands-on experiences. The Museum's world-class collections and exhibits serve as a truly unique backdrop to each week's program. While some camps focus on a specific topic or set of skills, others are broad surveys of everything the Peabody has to offer! We ran our first two camps in 2004 and over the course of the next four years grew to 12 camp programs. In 2009 we added camps at our Community Education Center at West Campus with its on-site natural areas, spacious facility and access to collections that now reside at West Campus. We plan a healthy mix of interactive learning activities, field trips, creative arts and play, with at least some time spent outside each day. Our staff is trained to create an environment that is both physically and emotionally safe, and one in which the experience of every child is important. Please note that some of our camps will fill by late winter, and most will be full by the end of spring, so don't hesitate to register or contact us if you are interested. We sincerely hope we can provide your child with some of those opportunities to grow and discover, and experiences they will remember fondly for the rest of their lives. A limited number of full and partial need-based scholarships are available. To be eligible, those seeking scholarships must apply by May 2, 2011 (you will be asked to submit copies of your family's most recent tax documents). Other restrictions apply. At a minimum, the Program Registration Form and a $100 deposit are required to reserve a space for your child in one of our summer programs. If your child's camp is canceled two months prior to the start of camp a full refund will be issued. If the camp is canceled less than two months before the start of your child's camp the refund of the deposit is subject to our ability to fill your child's space.

Please note that some of our camps will fill by late winter, and most will be full by the end of spring, so don't hesitate to register or contact us if you are interested. We sincerely hope we can provide your child with opportunities to grow and discover, and experiences to remember fondly for the rest of his or her life.

Description: Youth Rights Media Summer Institute is an intensive summer employment program designed to build the civic leadership, community organizing, and media art skills of 20 New Haven teens. Youth participants will learn about themselves, their communities, society and strategies for becoming effective change agents. The Summer Institute launches with a day-long retreat and youth spend the following five weeks working at YRM's site 20 hours per week. Their work experience involves three components: Work ethics, training, and Application and Action.

Youth Rights Media (YRM) is a New Haven-based nonprofit dedicated to empowering youth to know, protect and advance their rights. YRM builds youth power and leadership by teaching young people video media production and community organizing, equipping them with the tools, skills and strategies for affecting change in themselves and their communities. Monday through Thursdays with occasional evenings and weekends. 9 AM - 3 PM. Snacks provided.

Description: It is our mission to help students learn about health practices that promote their health and well-being. Each sbhc emphasizes prevention and early identification and treatment of physical and mental health conditions. Consequently, staff is continually engaging students in the classroom with health education presentations, individual and group health activities, health screenings and various other health initiatives conducted in the schools. Equally important is the accessibility to our clinical services for treatment of acute and management of chronic illnesses, such as asthma and diabetes.
